CRAB COMMODITY UPDATE

Over the last 10 years the volume and value of snow crab exports have escalated significantly, peaking in 1995. In the mid- 1990s more than 80% of Canadian snow crab exports from the Gulf area went to Japan and 10% went to the USA. In the last two years that has shifted, with a decreased 70% going to Japan and an increased 25% going to the USA. The Alaska Department of Fish and Game (ADFG) has announced the quota for the January 2002 opilio crab, season, with an increases from 2001's 12 000 MT to 14 000 MT. The news comes at a time when many of the Bering Sea's other crab stocks are declining or recovering from low points, thus placing an economic pinch on crab fishing and processing firms.

PRODUCTION

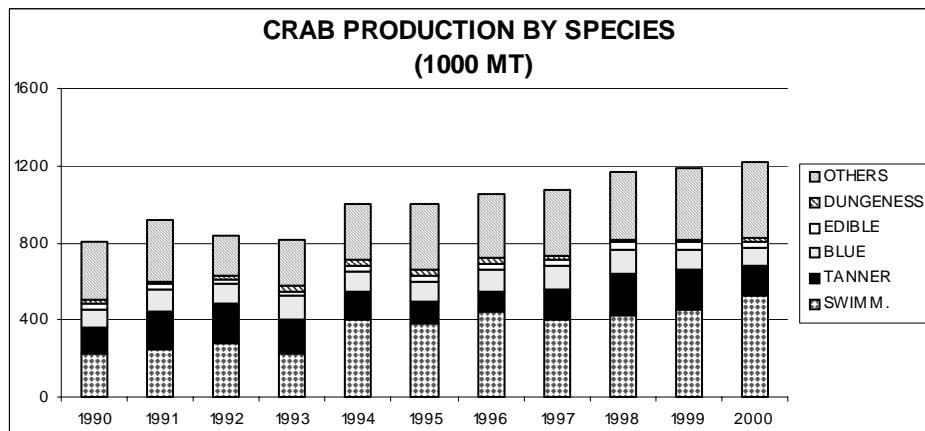

There was a steady increase in total crab production (aquaculture + capture) over the 1990-2000 period. In 2000 it rose slightly by a further 3% reaching 1.2 million MT. In 1990, world crab production was 700 000 MT. China is the leader among crab producers with an output of 516 000 MT, up 23% from 1999 and almost four times more compared to 1990. Another important crab producer is the USA whose output is equivalent to 11% of the world's crab production, that is 136 000 MT (2000). The USA experienced quite a strong decline in production in the last two years (-46%). Canada is the world's third main crab producer (106 700 MT in 2000) and its output has been expanding steadily over the last ten years.

Data : p. 31

Swimming crab is by far the main crab species produced (43% of total) with over 520 000 MT in 2000, up 17% from 1999. 13% of the total crab produced is tanner crab, 154 000 MT in 2000. Tanner crab production has declined by 25% since 1999.

Data : p. 32

In 2000, 88% of total crab production consisted of wild crab. The bulk (76%) of Chinese crab production was wild crab in 2000. In 2000, China had a wild crab output of 391 000 MT (up 21% from 1999), therefore retaining its top position among wild crab producers.

The USA, in second position produced 135 600 MT of wild crab in 2000, 35% less than in 1999. All the US crab is wild crab.

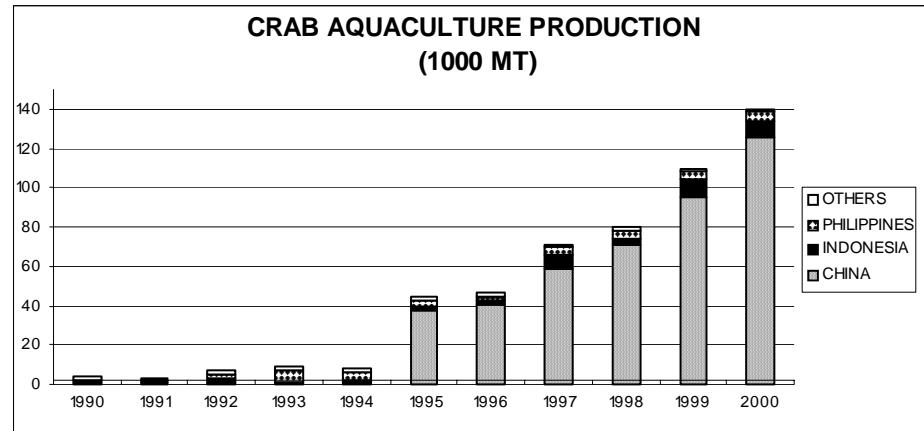

Data : p. 33

The graph clearly illustrates the extraordinary growth in the crab aquaculture industry in the last ten years. In 1990, only 3 800 MT of crab were farmed, this activity reached 140 300 MT in 2000. China was responsible for this strong expansion. It produces 90% of the world's farmed crab (not identified marine crabs), 30% more compared to 1999. Chinese cultured crab production was nil in 1990.

PROCESSING

Frozen crab production increased only slightly (+3%) in 2000 reaching the period's peak at 120 900 MT. Crab production was 48 600 MT in 1990. Canada is the main frozen crab producer with a 40% share of the world's frozen crab production (49 000 MT in 2000) followed by the Russian Federation with a 23% share (27 700 MT). Canadian production of frozen crab declined by almost 5% in 2000, whereas the Russian Federation's output remained at 1999 levels.

Data : p. 32

World canned crabmeat production declined further (-57%) in 2000 to 35 000 MT. Canned crabmeat production has been declining steadily since 1993, with the exception of 1998 when production shot up by 50% to 101 600 MT. The USA is the leader among canned crabmeat producers (93% of total) with an output of 32 700 MT in 2000, down 56% from 1999 and 67% below the 1990 figure. India produces 5% of the world's canned crabmeat (1 800 MT in 2000) indicating a 66% decline from 1999.

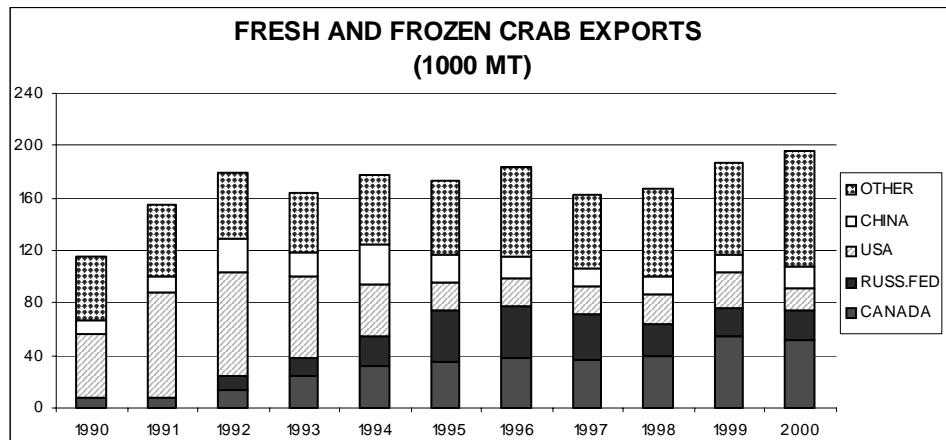

Data : p. 36

* Note : There are some discrepancies between the processed production data and the export data. In fact, in the case of Thailand, for example, production of processed crab can be assumed to be higher than the export figure.

EXPORTS

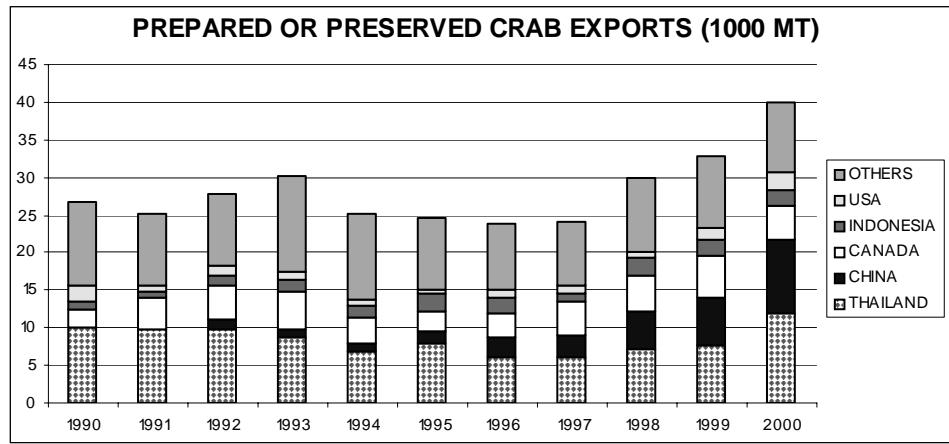

Fresh and frozen crab exports experienced a slight increase from 1999 (+5%) and were 196 600 MT (US$ 962 million). Exports grew sharply (55%) between 1990 and 1992 remaining more or less stable after that. Canada is the world's main fresh and frozen crab exporter with 51 800 MT (US$ 368.6 million) in 2000, down 4% from 1999. In 1990 Canadian fresh and frozen crab exports were a mere 7 200 MT (US$ 57.5 million). Exports of fresh and frozen crab by the Russian Federation (in second position), remained stable in 2000 at 22 300 MT (US$ 138.9 million). This compares favourably with the 1992 figure when Russian exports were 10 700 MT (US$ 87.0 million). The USA exports mainly to the Japanese market. However exports by the Russian Federation are undereported since looking at exports to Japan these are much higher than total exports reported by this country. The USA and China are other strong fresh and frozen crab exporters shipping 16 800 MT (US$ 147.7 million) and 16 300 MT (US$ 57.6 million) of this product to foreign markets in 2000.

World prepared and preserved crab exports grew by more than 20% from 1999 amounting to 40 000 MT (US$ 292.3 million). Thailand exported 30 % of the world's prepared and preserved crab in 2000 (11 800 MT worth US$ 76.4 million). China shipped 25% of the world's prepared and preserved crab to foreign markets in 2000 (9 900 MT and US$ 59.1 million). In 2000, exports by both Thailand and China increased by 55% and 57% respectively over 1999.

Data : p. 23

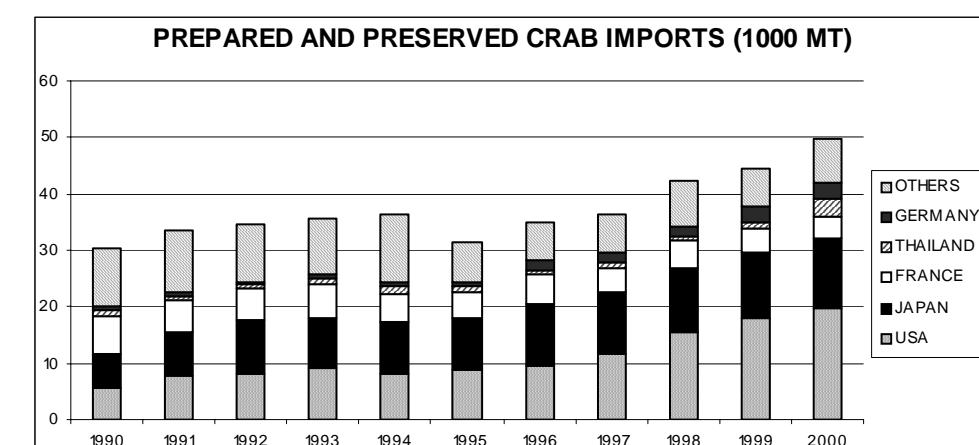

IMPORTS

Fresh and frozen crab imports were 278 500 MT (US$ 1.9 billion) in 2000, 6% more than in 1999 and significantly up on 1990 (137 800 MT and US$ 827.9 million). Japan accounts for almost half of the world's fresh and frozen crab imports (mainly from Russia), that is 124 300 MT

Data : p. 12

(US$ 989 million) almost the same as in 1999. Japanese crab imports have experienced strong growth between 1990 and 1991 (+44%) but has stabilized after that due to the difficult economic situation in the country. The USA's (in second position) fresh and frozen crab imports expanded only slightly (+4%) in 2000 to 53 600 MT (US$ 517.2 million), a very strong growth considering that its imports were only 5 900 MT in 1990. The USA imports fresh and frozen crab mainly from Canada (about 28 000 MT in 2000) which corresponds to 61% of total US imports of this product.

In 2000, prepared and preserved crab imports increased by 12% to 49 900 MT (US$ 530.3 million), the highest figure over the period. In 1990, total prepared and preserved crab imports were 30 300 MT (almost US$ 260 million). The USA is still the top importer of prepared and preserved crab buying 19 600 MT (US$ 224.8 million) of this product in 2000, 9% above 1999 and also comparing favourably with 1990 (5 700 MT and US$ 43.3 million). The USA imports the bulk (38%) of its prepared and preserved crab (canned crab) from Indonesia (4 500 MT in 2000) and from Thailand (3 700 MT in 2000).
